Smethport vs Port Allegheny

Last Sunday afternoon the Smethport base ball club, smarting over their defeat the Sunday previous, on the home grounds, went over to Port Allegany, with blood in their eyes, and at the end of the second inning had the game clinched and tied up.

The Smethport boys took a liking to Bettie's offerings in the second inning and began a hitting spree, which netted six hits and five runs. When the county seat aggregation tallied up another three hits and a run in the fourth, Miller took Mottes place and from then on the teams were more evenly matched. Clarke, an old timer, pitched a fine game for Smethport.

Port Allegany scored once in the first and three times in the sixth, Romanio led off with a two bagger, McDonald fanned, Bouden went out short to first, Romanio taking second. Lemon singled over second, scoring Romanio, Lemon was caught going to second when McCarney knocked to the infield.

McCarney singled over third, Decker hit to second, taking first on an error by Walker, McCarney taking third. Roys singled through short, scoring McCarney and Decker. Johnson fanned. Miller flied out to Denning. Romanio hit to center for two bases, scoring Roys. McDonald went out, McDermitt to Hill.

McCarey had to leave the game in the seventh inning, when he was injured in attempting to catch a foul ball, which went into the lines of rooters. Bouton took McCarney's place at first and Black substituted for Bouton in left field.

The game had its bright spots as well as its dark ones. One feature was the fielding and hitting of Romanio, who made four hits out of five times at bat, three of them being for two bases. Denning and Royce each made sensational running catches, and the base-running of the latter brought roars of laughter from the large crowd of fans.

The final score was 8 to 4 in favor of Smethport.

HEAT IN POSTOFFICE.

Postmaster Workley, who is always alert to the comfort of the patrons of the office, this week has a force of plumbers at work installing a new furnace in the basement with one radiator in the lobby and one inside near the stamp window. These will heat the house comfortably, at least during dog days, and is expected to do so, the coldest days in winter.

ELDRED MAN IS HELD NEXT TERM OF COURT.

County Detective Jack Allison placed under arrest Saturday, Forest Joy, of Eldred, a man 40 years of age, married and the father of six children, on the charge of attempting to commit felonious rape on Mary Manning, age 14 years, and a friend of the oldest Joy children. Joy was given a hearing before Justice Ira McCarney and bound over to court in the sum of $1,500.

Joy was taking a horse to pasture, leading it back of the horse and cart, and he took along the young girl to drive the horse and rig, while he led the extra horse. At a lonely spot near the river the screams of the girl attracted Charles Chase, who lives thereabouts, and he hurried to the spot, from whence the cries came and threatened to shoot Joy, but was not obliged to carry out the threat.

OIL WELL SHOT.

No. 21 well on the H. B. Oil Co.'s lease on Rew Hill was shot Monday and promises to be a good one. The H. B. Co. is composed of O. J. Hamlin, W. H. Gallup, J. C. Backus and A. J. Hyatt of Smethport, E. J. Hyatt, of Rew, and Tom Wilson and Mr. Evans of Bradford.

ENACT DANCE ORDINANCE.

The Borough Council of Port Allegany, at a session on Monday, passed an ordinance providing that any person or persons holding a public dance within the borough must pay $5 to the borough for the privilege; that all dance halls must be closed at 12 o'clock midnight; and that councilmen, or persons appointed by the council, should censor the dances and inspect the dance halls when necessary which passed unanimously.

ELDRED BUSINESS MEN.

A recent survey of the business places on Main street disclosed the fact that none of the men who were engaged in business in Eldred forty years ago were to be found today following their business pursuits; all being dead or else retired. D. S. McFall who has been cutting hair, and shaving faces for thirty-four years on Main street holds the record for continuous service along with E. I. Marsh, who started in business about the same time as did Mr. McFall. Very few of the other business people have conducted their present business for over twenty years, many of whom have commenced within the last five years.

BEAR UNAFRAID OF AN AUTOMOBILE.

A motor party from Kane consisting of Mrs. E. D. McClusky and daughter, Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCloskey of this place and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Goodwin and Mrs. Iler of Pittsburgh, formed a motoring party that met with an interesting experience about a mile this side of Nansen Monday. A "yearling" black bear, weighing close to 200 pounds, was encountered in the road and watched the approach of the car with great interest. When the auto had reached a point about 100 feet away the young bear reluctantly strolled into the undergrowth at the roadside, where it took up a position where it could see the car go by. All counties in this section of the state are reporting an unusual number of bears this season, which, under the liberal protection of the game laws are becoming actually tame. Many neighborhoods, however, resent their tameness bitterly, as the bears are committing serious depredations among flocks of sheep and doing other damage to outlying farms. The animals are exceedingly wary of traps, although many instances are reported where they got away with the honey usually used as a bait.

The Department of Industry and Commerce was appraised that a gusher producing two hundred ten thousand barrels of oil daily had been brought in upon a section of the Tuxian oil fields that was formerly thought to have been completely exhausted.

WILLIAM HARRY MEANS DEAD

The people of this community were greatly shocked on Tuesday, June 6 to learn of the sudden death of townsman, Harry Means. Mr. Means with his wife, S. A. McClure and R. D. Kerr, started for Mercer about noon. At Perrine's Corners he complained of illness, due to a heart affection with which he was afflicted for some time, but his condition quickly responded to a stimulant and they proceeded on the trip. Just on the other side of Jackson Center he became ill again and his death resulted before medical aid could be obtained. Dr. Cooley of this place was summoned and made a quick trip to Jackson Center and upon examination pronounced his death due to heart failure. The body was brought to his home here early in the afternoon.

William Harry Means was born near Punxsutawney, Jan. 11, 1864, and had been a resident of Sandy Lake the past sixteen years. He was engaged in the oil producing territory south of Sandy Lake, which was operated by himself and sons. He had been president of the borough school board for several years and was a citizen whose worth to the community cannot be estimated. He was active in all the movements for the good of the town and was always a livewire in furthering the projects which he believed to be for the advancement of his home community. He was a member of Lake Lodge, No. 124, F. and A. M. of this place, the Lodge of Perfection, Oil City, Consistory of New Castle and Franklin Commandery, No. 11. He will be greatly missed not only in the home circle but in the community at large where he had legions of friends.

Mr. Means is survived by his wife, formerly Nellie Brewer of Mt. Jewett, two sons, Wallace F. and Perry E. of Sandy Lake.

Mr. Means was well known here and the people of Smethport regret to learn of his death.—Sandy Lake Breeze.

MRS. AARON ENGSTROM.

Mrs. Aaron Engstrom passed away June 14th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sam Bloomberg, of west Main street after a lingering illness lasting about six months. The end came peacefully about noon. She said a bible verse, and murmured "amen", and surrounded by her loved ones gathered round her bedside, passed tranquilly to her reward.

Christiena Peterson was born May 29, 1833, at Asenbaga, Sweden. She was married January 1st, 1860 to Aaron Engstrom. To them were born nine children: Amandus, Victor, Otto, Gustaf and Ida (Mrs. Sam Bloomberg) of Smethport, Oscar (who died while an infant); Oscar Alfred of Buffalo (deceased); John of Jamestown, and Adolph of Evanston, Illinois.

In 1900 the couple came to America, and settled in Smethport where they have since resided. Mrs. Engstrom was a lifelong member of the Swedish Mission church, and carefully reared her family in that faith. She was a devoted Christian mother, beloved in her home, and among her many friends.

Her faith was exemplified in her patient endurance of her long illness.

Her seven children and husband Aaron Engstrom survive her.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the Swedish Mission church. Rev. Hognander of Jamestown, N. Y., officiating. Her six sons were pall bearers. Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

A NEW MOWER.

The county commissioners had a demonstration of a new lawn mower on Monday which attracted quite a bunch of people to the court house lawn. The mower in question is a motor driven vehicle and operates from its handles. It is speedy, cuts clean and is said to be indestructable. The operator has nothing to do but to walk along and guide the machine. We understand the commissioners bought one on approval. If it does the work they pay, but no work, No pay.

HAZELHURST TO HAVE ELECTRIC SERVICE.

On Saturday evening about 40 citizens of Hazelhurst, gathered together to talk matters over for the betterment of the valley town. There were present with them F. S. Lawrence of Kane and A. B. Eadie of Mt. Jewett, both connected with the Keystone Power Corporation.

The matter of lighting up the street of the village was discussed and it looks favorable, that it is to be lighted until midnight at least. There are prospects of about 40 homes being wired. They will get their juice from the line running from Mt. Jewett to Smethport.

MR. WALKER A CALLER.

His visit to this office was all too short, and we hope he may call soon [illegible]

THE WIND.

(By Robert Louis Stevenson.)

I saw you toss the kites on high
And blow the birds about the sky;
And all around I heard you pass,
Like ladies' skirts across the grass.
O wind, a-blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

I saw the different things you did,
But always you yourself you hid.
I felt you push, I heard you call,
I could not see yourself at all—
O wind, a blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

O you that are so strong and cold,
O blower, are you young or old?
Are you a beast or bird or tree,
Or just a stronger child than me?
O wind, a-blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

SOME TIME

By LOUISE H. ADDELSON

Whatever mistakes other people may have had on the subject, Molly Hunter herself never doubted that she would be married some time. At thirty she was decidedly dubious still on that. But instead of giving way to despair, Molly bought herself a new hat and hoped that the next man she met would admire it. With indignant courage she set about to forget the young lawyer who, in spite of her brother's family, her neighbor's sneers, and her mother's censure, had—

"It would be far more sensible to sew dresses for your sister's children," said Mrs. Hunter, sternly. "You are too old for such nonsense as hope-chests."

"Hm," commented Molly, placidly. "Maybe. You may be right. But when I do get married I'll have more than most girls, because I've had a longer time to prepare."

No matter what was said she listened patiently, smiled serenely, and stitched composedly, with unvarying faith in the husband that was to be hers—some time.

Brother Edwin in particular, had no patience with Molly, whom he looked upon as a good-natured, rather feeble-minded individual, forever stitching on what he contemptuously termed her "hope rags."

"I don't know," he was in the habit of saying, with deep gloom, "how Molly ever got into this family. She's certainly not like the rest of us."

"Don't worry, please," answered Molly, patiently. "I will get married, maybe sooner than you think. I know I will get married—some time."

To which her brother grunted unbelievingly.

One evening, the rest of the family, including the maid, being out, Molly sat before the library fire, looking thoughtfully into the coals. Molly was closing eight for the husband that was to be hers "some time." The bell rang. She sighed wearily, and opened the door. A gray-haired stood there with his arm in a sling.

"I want to see Doctor Hunter," said he, in a glass of color.

"He's out," said Molly. "Please sit down and while you're waiting you can talk to me. I am very lonesome."

"I'm lonely, too," he said. "I shall be glad when my arm is better and I can return to California."

"California!" exclaimed Molly, with interest. "I've been there, and I just love it!"

The stranger beamed. At the end of an hour, when the doctor interrupted, he was still holding forth about the glories of his native state, Molly left her new acquaintance with regret.

"What a wonderful man!" she said to herself, with shining eyes. "I—I could just love him!"

At dinner the following evening Molly was ill at ease because her brother stared at her in such a puzzled manner.

"I am considerably surprised," he told Molly, "and of course gratified, that you've met Mr. Channing—and that—that he seems so taken with you—"

"What are you talking about?" asked plain-spoken Molly. "Who is Mr. Channing?"

"Mr. Channing? Mr. Channing?" Her brother almost choked. "Mr. Channing," he finally announced, "is the gentleman you were talking to last evening. He is a millionaire business man of California. Last night he seemed interested in you, and when I saw him again this morning he said he thought you the finest young woman he'd ever seen. Wants to marry you. Queerest thing I ever heard of," went on Doctor Hunter, frankly amazed. "I never thought you'd—I mean he's such a catch. That's him now, I imagine," as the bell rang.

Molly's head whirled. As in a dream she heard her brother greet his guest; saw him leave the room; felt her hand gently clasped.

"You are a little girl that I've frightened you. I know my methods are crude even for a California. But I know you, since last night, that you are the woman for me. Will you marry me and go home with me next week? I'm afraid somebody will steal you from me if I leave you here. What do you say, little one?"

Molly forced herself to look up, and met a pair of adoring eyes. "I'm—I'm afraid," she murmured. She was indeed afraid—that she was dreaming.

Mr. Channing, however, misinterpreted. "Afraid of me?" He took her in his arms. "You will have a week's time in which to get acquainted with me," he said, "and you will never be sorry."

As events proved, she wasn't. But then, she had always known it would be like that—some time.

EUROPE AND OTHER WORRIES.

I think with regret
Of the year that's upset
Since Collecting (once quite a mild mania)
And with shudders reflect
What we've now to expect
Confronted by, say, Lithuania,
A fresh emanation
From some brand- new nation
Will make one indulge in orgies, a
Sane minded person
Regard with a curse on
The upset-Republic of Georgia.
And sometimes you'll hope,
As so blindly you grope
In darkness pathetically Styxian,
That sundry disasters
Befall the shin-plasters
Comprising some labels Lettvi
ian.
This glute will make you ban
The issues of Kuban;
And where in the world is Lettonia?
I'm thinking the same'll
Be muttered of Memel,
Adzerbaidjan (Ye Gods!) and Esthonia.
Full many an issue
Will oft make you wish you
Were just about twenty times
brainier;
And in tones harsh and strident
Cognizant that old trident
To a far warmer clime than Ukrainia.
Now that term "Plebiscite"
Bamboozles one quite;
It's sufficient to make any man
sick
And I, though I want to,
Can never "get on" to
Silesia, or Slesvig, or Danzig.
Some small Baltic regions
Have lopped up their legions
In most irritating behaviour;
And having united
They keep us excited
With issues Except Jugo-Slavia.
With republics and states
Springing up at such rates,
Our faith seems to daily grow
shakier
So we cannot applaud
On the portraits and views
From the newly formed Czecho
Slovakian.
Unified or Bavarians,
And countless Hungarians,
Allenstein (no) And gladly I'd murder
The fates who decide,
What new type shall be tried
With emissions of Marienwerder.
So onward they roll, and
I notice that Poland
Is far to prolific to please one;
And even young Thrace
Must come into the race
With all sorts of subcharges to tease one.
Now the French occupations
Entail rumination
And our geography's put to the test;
To find Syria, Cilicia,
(and others still fisher!)
We wish they would give them a rest.
And the conquests of Italy
Make one weep bitterly,
With Trentino, and Gullia, And so on
Say! is Tridentino
Of interest to me? No!
One wonders how long it will go
on.
But the peach of the lot
Is that miserable spot;
It's that Fiume of course, I allude to;)
And Pilsudski's irate
With poet and pirate
In reach of them all, be rude to

TELEGRAPHY AND TELEPHONY.

200 years ago on June third a successful experiment was tried out, when Ben Franklin, with his kite, with a tow string drew the lightning from the skies, and as a result today we turn a thumb screw or push a button to instantly light a house, or only part as desired, step onto an elevator and you are quickly on the ninth floor, or press a button and your bread is toasted, clothes ironed, room swept scrupulously clean, all the results of the discovery of Ben Franklin, who was thought at the time of his experiments to be silly, capricious and temperamental.

In 1844 the Morse Instrument clicked off the first successful attempt at telegraphy, which was but an advanced improvement of the discovery of Ben Franklin.

In 1876 the telephone was invented and we have beheld its growth with wonder.

In 1899 Marconi, an Italian inventor, perfected the wireless system of telephony and the system has been improved and perfected until today it is possible to communicate with European Capitals, or indeed clear around the world.

Marconi's system or the wireless as it is familiarly known has been developed until the Radio system is now being perfected, and installed in homes where the residents may sit at home and listen to sermons, lectures, concerts, etc., and we, when we look back at the philosopher standing out in the rain flying his kite, and imprisoning the lightning, we are led to wonder, what next.

A COALILION.

The Coal Miners of United States have been out about two months on a strike and have stronuously refused arbitration.

The Department of Commerce has been trying, for some time to effect a reduction of wages of the Railroad employees and have ordered a reduction of from 6 cents to 10 cents per day off the wages, and a vote was instantly taken as to acceptance or a strike and it is probable that the vote will result as a strike order.

Now the Miners and the Railroad Brotherhood officials are endeavoring to get together and strike in common.

This might result in much damage to the business interests of the country if it were carried out, but there are also many reasons why it cannot be brought about.

The Brotherhood have always been fair and patriotic and it is not believed that they will go on a long strike over a wage reduction of 10 cent per day, in view of the fact that living condition has decreased much more than that.

There is reason to believe that the railroads will remove one impediment to good feeling on the part of their employees by discontinuing the contract system, regardless of their convictions as to its legality. This will go a long way toward the restoration of cordial relations. Only yesterday the board received a communication from the Southern Pacific giving notice that the labor contracts complained of by its employes had been done away with, and that the road had no intention of again resorting to the contracting of its labor. There are reasons to believe that this example will be speedily followed by other railroads. It is the unanimous judgment of the Labor Board that it should be.

NO COMPROMISE WITH DISHONOR.

Time will undoubtedly bring to the Harding administration a world-wide approval of its course in declining to send representatives to Genoa or The Hague to attend a conference which would recognize the Soviet government of Russia. "President Harding's decision was based upon fundamentall sound reasons, and though certain European interests may be temporially displeased, they will ultimately realize that the course pursued by the United States w. best for the permanent welfare of Europe and the world.

"To recognize the Soviet regime and extend it a loan of the desired billion dollars would not lead to a restoration of industry in Russia. The billion dollars would be used directly or indirectly to maintain the military organizatio nby which the Lenine government keeps itself in power. If the money should be directly employed in industry, other funds to a corresponding amount would be withdrawn from industry, to support the military organization. The whole bolshevik scheme of confiscation, euphoniously called "nationalization," is unsound and must ultimately fail. A loan to the Soviet government cannot afford even a temporary relief to the Russian people. Pouring American money into the vaults of an international thief would but encourage the thief to continue in his evil ways. It would afford him the means of supporting himself in his nefarious business.

WHAT RUSSIA NOW MUST DO.

There is no desire or intention on the part of the United States to interfere with the Russian people as they endeavor to work out their own destiny and the American people desire as keenly as ever that the Russian people shall regain the highway of industrial and economic prosperity. But political recognition is more than a mere empty term; it is not something that can be extended or revoked at will. "Political recognition" in the luminous words of Mr. Hughes, "is dependent upon the existence of a government that is competent to discharge and shows a disposition to discharge its international obligations."—Boston Transcript.

MAKES THE DEMOCRATS SPECIFY.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, tried in vain to get a Democratic senator to tell just exactly where he stands in the question of a protective tariff. Although the Democrat had spent several hours opposing the Republican tariff bill, he refused to tell what he wanted in the way of a tariff. It might be well for voters everywhere, when the campaign warms, to ask every Democratic candidate for the Senate or House to state specifically what he advocates—not merely what he opposes—in tariff legislation. It will be difficult for any of them to state his position definitely without coming out for some sort of protection.—Wyoming State Tribune.

AN ERA OF GOOD FEELING.

Every time a Republican primary is held, the Democrats herald the outcome as a repudiation of the Harding administration. Their rejoicing is great. How fine to have everybody satisfied. If these winners in the primaries are Anti-Harding, as alleged, then the anti-Harding people, if there are any, must be satisfied. The Harding people assert their intention of earnestly supporting these nominees, and on top of all that, we have the Democrats pleased over the nominations. It would seem that a Democratic nominee will have slim chance in the November elections—with every body satisfied with Republican candidates.

THAT FORD SUBSIDY.

The Chief of Finance of the War department has completed a table of estimates showthe operation of the proposed Henry Ford lease for the Muscle Shoals, Ala., plant, which with some modifications, the House Committee on Military Affairs has decided to recommend for acceptance. In the hundred years period of the lease the income of the government will be $2,089,417,203, the outgo $2,640,397,451. The loss to the government will be more than $600,000,000, which will go to Henry Ford. The anxiety of some people to give Henry Ford some more of the people's money is difficult to explain. There are plenty of people in the country who need six hundred million dollars more than Henry does. If Congress feels it is necessary to throw that much more cash to the birds, why not at least pass it around a bit?

PROTECTION A NATIONAL POLICY.

The question of protection for American farm products should not be a party issue at Washington. That farm products do feel the effect of foreign competition, everybody knows.

It is true that in time of short harvests abroad, our grains can be and are exported. But Canada dairy products, Canadian potatoes, even eggs from China have been imported, from time to time.

In some cases these importations have forced down even the low American prices of farm products in this land within the past twelve months. So, if we are to have protection at all, as a national policy why not on our farm products?

In the name of common sense, what logic can defend any other policy? Why should senators ask that we protect manufactured goods but not what our farmers have to sell?

Surely the farms are as necessary to this country as our factories are. Why treat one any different from the other? other?

A RAILROAD STRIKE.

The railroad workers facing a wage reduction may vote for a strike, but it does not seem likely that there will be a strike.

For one thing, the reductions in most cases are not drastic, and have not equaled the drop in the cost of living; and it is to be remembered that the cost of living has been the basic principle in all railroad wage adjustments of recent years.

For another thing, the wage cuts do not apply to all classes of railroad employees, and it is doubtful whether the unions affected will have the support of those not affected. A strike of any considerable part would necessarily mean the idleness of all, and many hundred thousand railroad men are not enthusiastic about idleness just now.

Intelligent railroad men, too, both among the leaders and among the ranks and file, know that a railroad strike would be unpopular. They know that the public has an idea that the railroad workers have been having things pretty much their own way in these last few years, and that this is a bad time for any show of arrogance. And without public support no railroad strike could succeed.

ATLAS
PORTLAND CEMENT

SOMETIMES a porch is the one thing needed to add that cozy look every home should have. If so, the three things to consider are expense, appearance and permanence.
Three men in your community will gladly answer these three questions—the contractor, the architect and the building material dealer. In fact the dealer will help you deal with the other two.
Your building material dealer can give you useful information and advice. On building materials it is safe to follow his judgment. He will recommend Atlas Portland Cement, "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

WHERE GO THE BOAT.

(By Robert Louis Stevenson)

Dark brown is the river,
It flows along forever,
Golden is the sand,
With trees on either hand.

Green leaves a-floating,
Castles of the foam,
Where will all come home?
Boats of mine a-boating,

On goes the river
And out past the mill,
Away down the valley,
Away down the hill.

Away down the river,
A hundred miles or more,
Other little children
Shall bring my boats ashore.

JUCKY ARTIST WON FORTUNE

Comfortable Sum Bequeathed Painter Who Had Reproduced Features of Beloved Daughter.

A fortune of [illegible] which was bequeathed by Jerome Robert B. Hawley, president of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, to Mr. Learned and Mrs. Learned, was the result of having painted a portrait of the sugar magnate's dead daughter. Mr. Hawley made a fortune in the cement business, and in 1896, he was elected to congress. Just after he left congress his daughter Sue died, and he was heartbroken. The only likeness that he possessed of his loved one was a small photograph, and this lacked much of the fine animation that had characterized her face.

Taking the photo Mr. Hawley went to Arthur G. Learned, a rising young artist, and asked him to make a portrait that would recall something of the inspiration the girl had been in her father's life. The picture was made and it exceeded the hopes of the grief-stricken father. The latter was so grateful that he became on the closest terms of friendship with the painter and his family. Mr. Hawley died in November and left to Mr. Learned and his wife £20,000 ($100,000), and, to their little son £2,000 ($10,000), and a trust fund of £24,000, ($120,000).—Manchester Guardian Weekly.

OPEN FIREPLACE A NUISANCE

Women of Past Generations Considered the Huge Affairs of Those Days as Unnecessary.

Nowadays one of the most convincing proofs that you can give to the fact that your city apartment is of the highest class and unlike the ordinary is to say that it has "open fireplace." Even a single "open fireplace" in an apartment is enough to raise it from the shoddy majority. And, of course, when we dream of owning a house in the country most of us, nine out of ten of us, think of an open fireplace as a sine qua non of such an abode.

But our grandmothers had no such opinions of open fireplaces.

Open fireplaces were a real humiliation to the woman who had them in her house 50 years or more ago. At least that feeling prevailed in this country. A small grate fire that held a few shovels of coal was another matter, but the sort of fireplace where logs burned across dredges was, well, it was one of the cruelties that most persons did not like to possess. Yes, there was a time when a Franklin stove or a drum stove was considered more of an ornament to the well-furnished drawing room than the sort of wide-hearthed fireplace that we covet nowadays.

Section Men Watch Step

Section men are known for their deliberate movements. They never get in a hurry unless there is some urgent work to be done. As long as they are on the go they are supposed to be working fast enough.

Track workers on the subway lines are even more deliberate in their movements than men employed on regular railroads. Where the old-time section workers had to look out for liers and occasional freight trains, the subway track men have to be on the watch for express and local trains passing every few minutes. In addition, they've got to have a care for the third rail. In crossing the tracks every movement is taken with the death-dealing current always in mind. A hurried, reckless step might end

CELEBRATION OF FLAG DAY BY BRADFORD ELKS.

Bradford Lodge of Elks held its annual celebration of Flag Day Wednesday evening in the Elk club house, with the usual impressive ceremonies. Several hundred persons were present including large delegations from the various veterans' societies, their auxiliaries and other patriotic organizations among which were the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The program was opened with the Elks impressive Flag day ritual conducted by the following officers of the lodge:

Exalted Ruler Howard D. Yates, Esteemed Leading Knight John R. Pryde, Esteemed Lecturing Knight Harry B. McHenry, Esteemed Loyal Knight Thomas C. Francis, Treasurer Charles L. Bauer, Secretary James L. Andrews and Rabbi A. L. Meakes, chaplain.

Hon. Robert P. Habeoud then gave the History of the Flag, and F. D. Gallup delivered an inspiring Flag Day oration.

Music was provided by members of the Church of the Ascension choir under the direction of William R. Davis, choir leader. The audience also joined in singing patriotic songs.

A NICE STRING.

John C. Pitt ran across Edmund of Ridgway, report, Friday, as the latter was fishing in the stream and landed the finest catch of the season. He proudly flaunted a string of beauties ranging from 10 to 15 inches in length, which gives him the distinction of having caught the finest trout in this section this season.—Ridgway Record.

JAIL IS FULL.

The Clearfield County jail is so full of prisoners that persons convicted of minor crimes are being given their liberty rather than further congesting the county bastile. This is quite different from what was promised when the Volstead act was passed.

ARE VERY HYPERCRITICAL

The following police court items appeared in the correspondents column form Eldred to an Olean paper. The subject is causing considerable discussion in Eldred.

In the village court Wednesday two violators of the traffic laws, apprehended by the skeptical traffic officer, were brought before Justice Heath, who fined both offenders. Elmer Fairchilds of Coryville was arrested for driving an automobile while intoxicated and was fined $16 and Leroy Holmes of Smethport was fined $11 for exceeding the speed limit.

In the case of Leroy Holmes we don't know about the other one, but presume it was the same the limit prescribed by the ordinance is fifteen miles and the driver not being used to such a speed had slowed down to what he believed was the speed, but a motorcycle cop with a stop watch which he had procured at a ten cent store, claimed he was driving 17 miles per hour and at once pinched him. [illegible] fine was imposed. Should you have business in Eldred drive to the limit of the Dead Street.

AGREES ON SIZE OF U. S. ARMY.

House and Senate conferees of the army appropriation bill reached a compromise late Saturday on an army of 125,000 enlisted men for the next twelve months.

This represents a reduction of 8,000 from the Senate figure and an increase of 10,000 over the size of the army fixed by the House.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Beers of Hazelhurst were visiting Mr. Beers sister in Akron, Ohio, and last Friday, while Mr. Beers was crossing a street there he was struck by an automobile, knocked down and the car containing four persons, passed over his body.

He suffered a bad cut on his head together with numerous bruises and abrasions about his body.

The first report of the accident received stated that his collar bone and three ribs were broken, but a message from Mrs. Beers on Monday stated that no bones were broken [illegible] had been unconscious [illegible] hours.

Hopes for his speedy recovery are entertained by his many friends of Hazelhurst, where he has been [illegible] collector for the Gas and Water [illegible] for a number of years and who is very popular.

RECOMMEND TARIFF ON PETROLEUM.

On Saturday, at Olean, the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Oil & Gas Men's association held a meeting at the Empire, National Gas Company building and other matters of importance to the oil and gas industries were discussed. Homer G. Ridgcroft, president of the association; Earl Emery and W. J. Hegley, committee, and Dr. A. Donalson, secretary and treasurer of the association, all of Bradford, were among those in attendance.

A resolution was adopted whereby the organization was placed on record as favoring the passage of legislation providing for a protective tariff on foreign petroleum imported into the United States and now at issue before the United States senate.

ADD TWO COUNTIES TO ASSOCIATION.

Expansion of the old Elk-McKean I. O. O. F. association into a new four county organization, embracing McKean, Elk, Potter and Cameron counties, was the feature of of the 19th annual meeting of the old association in Bradford last Thursday. Enlargement of the association was decided upon at last year's meeting, but the new organization was not officially formed until Thursday.

In anticipation of this action, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Potter and Cameron counties were invited to attend the meeting, together with the McKean and Elk county members of the old organization. The result was one of the largest gatherings of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs ever held in this part of the state.

The day was filled with activities including the conferring of various degrees, two parades, and the annual business meetings of the association, and the Past Grands' organization. At the business session of the association in the Odd Fellows' Temple in the morning the organization's name officially was changed to the E. M. P. C. I. O. O. F. association the first part of the title being formed from the initial letters of the four counties.

At this session, Shinglehouse, Potter county, was selected as the scene of next year's meeting, and the following officers, all residents of Shinglehouse were elected:

President, A. D. Nichols; vice president, Margaret Jones; secretary, S. E. Rundell; treasurer, A. E. Crocker.

The Past Grands' association of the four Counties elected the following officers:

Help You Choose Tires

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, sun-baked concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the gruelling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the gruelling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

165% Increased Business

The buying public is the surest barometer of the value of any article. Their approval of Oldfield value has been demonstrated by the increase of 165% in business for the first five months of 1922 over the corresponding period of
